Set from Zarothus’s earlier edition of 1474 (Juv013). This edition is a more elaborate production. Ganda states that this edition was also financed by Marco Roma. The first four lines of a1^r are displayed in upper-case and are printed in red. Juvenal’s birth place is still given erroneously as Arpinum (but as Aquinum in the explicit). The text is divided into four books. Each satire has a single-line argumentum by Guarinus Veronensis

The roman type 109R seems to be a version of the 111R^b recorded by BMC. Ganda lists the type as 111R.

A quarto on royal paper, presumably printed by half-sheets on a one-pull press. The format is recorded as 2°/4° by ISTC, 4° by BSBIInk, 2° by GW. The pattern of watermarks (Houghton Library copy) confirms that the book was printed as a quarto by half-sheets (o = mark, x = absence, ? = not visible in the gutter):

a:	xxoo oxxx	2:2
b:	xxxx xxxx	0:4
c:	xxxx xxxx	0:4
d:	xxxx xxxx	0:4
e:	xxx? oxx?	2:2?
f:	ox?x xox?	2:2
g:	xxxo ?xxx	1:3
h:	ooxo oxo?	3:1
I:	?x xo	1:1

This is confirmed by frequent signs of pinholes towards the outer edge of the top and bottom of the pages. The Morgan copy has consistent pinholes at the top and bottom throughout.
