

Juv048. Juvenal, with a poem by H. Buschius and the Argumenta of A. Mancinellus Zwolle, [Tyman Petrus van Os?] [1496–1497?]

Title page: a1<sup>r</sup>: I<sup>2</sup>[uncial]Vuenalis. inter latinus fatyrographos | facile precipui. laus. et
Cõmendatio | H. B. P. | [10 lines of verse, starting ‘Vergilium. vt nemo vicit. fera bella:
cauendo |’]

Colophon: f. 69<sup>v</sup>: ¶ Impreffum Suolle.

Collation: Chancery 4<sup>o</sup>: a–f, A–H, 70 leaves unnumbered, (f. 70 blank?).

Contents: a1<sup>r</sup> title page; a1<sup>v</sup> Mancinellus’s Argumenta; a2<sup>r</sup> ‘Satyra Prima | [f<sup>3</sup>]Emper ego
auditor tantũ. Nunq̃ ne reponã | Vexatus totiens rauci thefeide codri. |’; on f. 69<sup>v</sup> colophon;
f. 70 missing, blank?

Typography: 71T; 99G; 125G; 30 lines; no catchwords; signed ???; running titles ???; ???

Paper: Chancery paper (43? × 28? cm): page size 18.5? × 12.5? cm (Leiden xerox) 17.5 edition sheets.

Only edition of Juvenal printed in Zwolle

First edition with the verses of Hermann van der Busche

The description is taken from Campbell, supplemented by information from W. and L. Hellinga, The fifteenth-century printing types of the Low Countries, 1966, ii, 450, and a Xerox of the title page and second leaf from Leiden University Library. From their examination of the types, the Hellingas date this edition between 1493 and 1497.

H. B. P. who signs the verses on the title page is probably Hermann van der Busche who enjoyed the nickname Pamphilus and who often signed himself in this way. This edition and its liminary poem are not known to H. J. Liessem, Hermann van der Busche, 1884. Liessem records (p. 4) that while a student at Cologne, Buschius made a journey through Holland in 1496. The poem, and no doubt the edition too, probably date from this period and are certainly unlikely to have been earlier. Buschius may have acted as editor or corrector to the press for this edition. The poem appears in several subsequent editions.

The presence of the Argumenta of Mancinellus which first appeared in 1492 suggest that one of Tacuinus’s recently published Venetian editions (Juv042 or Juv045) was the copy text for this edition.

The watermarks for the paper used in this edition are illustrated in Watermarks in Incunabula printed in the Low Countries (WILC)

Bibliographical references: HC9664; Campbell 1056. Van Thienen and Goldfinch, Incunabula printed in the Low Countries, no. 1375. Van Thienen, Incunabula in Dutch Libraries, no. 2831; GW M15825; ISTC ij00629500.

Locations: Leiden: †UL.

Digitised copies: